TWO WRECKS.

The Pittsburg Limited and the Wabash Vestibule Meet With Serious Accidents.

SALEM, Ohio, Aug. 7.—A railroad accident occurred near East Palestine, east of this city, on the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago railroad early this morning. Train No. 2, the vestibule train running east, ran into an open switch about fifty rods east of the depot and crashed into four heavy freight cars standing on the sidetrack. The front cars were thrown from the track and the engine and freight cars were totally wrecked. Engineer Ike Richs was seriously injured, his left leg being badly lacerated and he was injured about the back. The fireman, Wm. Garner, was badly injured, and Elmer Clupper, a resident of Palestine, who was on his way to work, was instantly killed. The passenger train returned to Alliance. None of the passengers were injured excepting a few bruises. It is presumed that the switch was left open by some of the night crews. Traffic on the road was delayed several hours.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 7.—Shortly after midnight this morning east bound vestibule train No. 42, on the Wabash railway, which hauls the New York and Boston sleepers, struck a fast freight train which was pulling in on a switch at Homer, Ill., badly damaging the passenger train's engine, mail and express cars. Four cars of grain in the freight train were also wrecked. No passengers were injured.

The following trainmen were injured: Engineer Frank Clark, seriously injured, scalded and bruised.

Fireman Henry Oppell, severely cut about head.

Mail Clerk A. J. Mouring, severely injured.

A tramp named Daniel Feeley, who was stealing a ride on the mail car, was killed.

The passenger train was behind time and the freight train had been allowed to use some of its time. The wrecking crews were at once sent to the scene of the accident and it is expected the tracks will be clear at noon. Physicians were summoned from Homer and the injured trainmen were made as comfortable as possible.

Express Messenger H. G. Bumgardner, of Taylorville, was seriously hurt, as were also the mail messenger, A. S. Manning, of Toledo, Ohio; Louis Gerke, of Fort Wayne, Ind., and C. A. Compton, of Kingsburg, Ill. The injured were taken to the Wabash hospital at Springfield, Ill.

STABBING AFFRAY.

Two Toughs Use Knives to Settle a Disputed Question.

CAMDEN, N. J., Aug. 7.—A serious stabbing affray occurred on the beach at at Gloucester Point at 3:30 o'clock this morning that will probably add another murder to the many other crimes of that locality. Thomas Lyons, a resident of Gloucester, is the victim of the affair and Edward Fogarty, of Philodelphia, a brother to the prize fighter of that name, is the assailant. The stabbing occurred in the pavilion adjoining Pat McGlade's saloon. The two men had been drinking and about 3 o'clock they got into a dispute over some trivial matter and hot words led to hotter ones. For half an hour they continued their wordy war, and about 3:30 found them in the pavillion, a lonely place. Suddenly turning upon Lyons, Fogarty plunged the large blade of a good sized pocket knife into his left side, just below the heart. Lyons dropped to the floor and Fogarty undertook to make his escape. The chief of police happened in the vicinity just at this time and took the would-be-murderer into custody. This morning Mayor Jackson committed Fogarty to prison without bail to await the result of Lyons injuries.

A DISHONEST FOREMAN.

His Stealings Cause the Firm to Go Into Bankruptcy.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 7.—It is learned that the cause of the suspension of D. W. Haydock's carriage factory was brought about by the extensive peculations of a foreman of the blacksmith shop. Mr. Haydock assigned yesterday and his liabilities were placed at about $125,000. Mr. Haydock says that his foreman had been carrying fictitious names of workmen on the pay roll for years, and as the foreman had charge of the pay rolls, the transactions were carried on without discovery until a few weeks ago. It is believed the foreman got away with at least $35,000, which he spent in gambling.

These gentlemen are in charge of the experiments which the government is about to make as to the practicability of producing rain by explosives. They were accompanied by Mr. Rannells, manager of the Nelson Morris ranch, at Midland, Texas, where the experiment will be made. They had with them 100 balloons from ten to twenty feet in diameter and capable of holding from 1,500 to 5,000 feet of gas; hundreds of kites from six to twelve feet high, miles of copper wire, quantities of nitro-glycerine and powder, batteries for generating electricity and machinery for generating hydrogen and oxygen.

CAUGHT IN THE ACT.

The Mysterious Disappearance of Wheat Explained.

MUNCIE, Ind., Aug. 7.—For some time O. W. Crabbs, a Muncie grain merchant, has been missing from ten to forty bushels of wheat from the cars that were loaded and shipped to him from Shideler, this county. The wheat was known to have been put into the car, but where it went to was a mystery until last night, when two men were placed on watch and they caught Silvia Saunders and Arthur Down in the act of tapping the car. The men were given a preliminary hearing and went to jail in default, and today the good citizens in that vicinity are congratulating themselves on the fine prospect of ridding the community of such characters.

STRANGLED TO DEATH.

Ill Health Drives a Well Known Hallroader to a Suicide's Grave.

PERU, Ind., Aug. 7.—Jesse Graff, one of the best known railroad men in Indiana, committed suicide yesterday by hanging. He had not been well for some time and had not been working for two weeks. The deed was premeditated, as he bid several of his old friends good bye and telegraphed his uncle at Rochester to come down yesterday sure, and just before his arrival he walked to the barn of his boarding house and deliberately strangled himself with a rope, there not being space sufficient to break his neck. He was unmarried.

TOWN BURNED.

Comanche Visited by a Disastrous Fire, Which Wipes Her Out.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa, Aug. 7.—Word was received here last night that the city of Comanche, Clinton county, was burning up. Grist and saw mills, dry goods and business houses were all swept out by the fire. Help was sent for to Lynn and Clinton and two engines and two hook and ladder trucks were forwarded on a special train, but as the town has no waterworks, they could do but little to check the flames.

LYNCH'S VILLAINY.

An Indianapolis Man Cuts His Wife's Throat.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 7.—Chas. Lynch, a young married man, seperated from his wife one week ago, she returning to her father's home. The trouble arose over his jealousy. He was arrested.

WHITECHAPEL AGAIN.

An Old Woman Found Lying in a Pool of Her Own Blood on the Streets.

LONDON, Aug. 7.—The Whitechapel district was today again thrown into a ferment of excitement by the commission of a crime, the character of which suggests it having been perpetrated by "Jack, the Ripper."

Early this morning an unknown man attacked a woman named Wolfe, seventy years of age, and a resident of Whitechapel. When aid reached the mortally wounded woman it was seen that her throat had been cut and that she had been stabbed in the body and one arm. She is dying. Her assailant escaped, and so far the police are without any knowledge as to his whereabouts. Of his identity nothing is known more than that the circumstances and manner of the crime point to the "ripper" as the murderer.

It has been ascertained that the woman Wolfe is a German who does not understand the English language. By the aid of a translator, and with much difficulty, it has been gathered from her that the man sprung upon her and attacked her without a word of warning. She suddenly saw the glitter of a knife, and mechanically raised her arm to ward off the blow. Then she fell to the doorsteps, where she was subsequently discovered. She was unable to make the passing people understand her plight and remained where she fell until the officers finally came to her assistance. On the arrival of the police a razor smeared with blood was found near the woman. One arrest was made by the police, but it is considered an unimportant one.

DIED AT THE ALTAR.

Owen Clarke's Strange Presentment of Death.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 7.—Owen Clarke, a merchant, sixty-five years old, summoned Attorney M. W. Beacon Tuesday morning and indicted a will. Later in the day he visited Grow Bros., undertakers, and had prepared a bill of expenses for a respectable funeral which he ordered as correct. The next morning he and Mrs. Murphy, a widow, drove to the church of the Immaculate Conception, on Lyman street, where a marriage ceremony was begun by Rev. Father Sidley. Before the last words which would pronounce them man and wife could be spoken Clarke fell forward in an apoplectic spasm, from which he never recovered. He expired in a few moments in the arms of his bride.

It was learned yesterday that Clarke had made a solemn promise to his first wife on her death bed that he would never marry again under any circumstances. In his will, which was probated yesterday, Clarke left his entire estate, valued at $40,000, to Mrs. Murphy.

PREACHER AND THIEF.

A Combination That West Virginia Officials Object To.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Aug. 7.—Rev. S. W. Hitt, well known as an evangelist of the United Brethren church, is in serious trouble. Capt. A. W. Boome, special government pension agent, and Marshal Wm. White, who have been looking for Hitt for some time, arrested him at Buckhannon, in Braxton county, and brought him to this city. The preacher is charged with a number of irregularities, but the government wants him for palming himself off as a government special examiner of the pension bureau, and ex-Congressman G. W. Atkinson was personally anxious to have him pulled, as it was reported that Rev. Hitt attributed his appointment to his (Atkinson's) political influence.

An affidavit of a witness says that Hitt sold and transferred an alleged commission to a man named Huffman, in Hitchie county.

It is also alleged that Hitt, by strength of his profession of government officer, has got a lot of men in trouble as indorsers on notes. His specialty, as told by witnesses and complained of by affidavits, is that of horse buyer. It is said that Hitt would buy horses, especially in Wirt, Roane and other counties, as an officer of the government and get them on credit. These animals, it is reported, he would run off into other counties and dispose of at any price he could handily get.

Hitt is a fine looking fellow of six feet and weighs about 200 pounds. As a minister of the gospel he is well known in this city and has heretofore been highly thought of. He has been living lately near Limestone mountain. He waived examination when taken before the United States commissioner and gave bond for his appearance at the next term of the United States court.

It was well along toward noon when the sleeper came to himself and found that he was plodding along the highway near Algona. Several neighbors met the man during his long trip and exchanged greetings with him without arousing him.

NEGRO HUNG.

James Thoroughgood, a Black Brute, Pays the Penalty for His Crime at Dover, Delaware.

DOVER, Del., Aug. 7.—James Thoroughgood was hanged at this place today, death being instantaneous.

The crime for which James Thoroughgood, the negro who was executed today, was commited January 18, 1891. On that day he met Louise Hoffington, aged about nine years, the daughter of a poor negro. He violently assaulted the child and threatened to cut her ears off if she informed on him. The little one, more dead than alive, reached home and told her parents. The alarm was given and a search for Thoroughgood was made. Governor Reynolds, who was inaugurated two days after the crime, offered a reward of $300 for the fellow's capture. A few days later Thoroughgood was arrested and taken to jail and on April 29th was indicted for rape.

He was tried and convicted and sentenced to hang August 7. The little victim who had picked out her assailant at the time of his arrest from among a group of negroes in the jail again identified him at the trial when she was placed on the witness stand. No effort was made to secure a respite or commutation of sentence. About a month after the conviction of Thoroughgood, the Hoffington house was burned to the ground and Louise was so badly burned about the head and hands that she is not expected to live long.

Representative Pennell, of Brown county, who has been prominently mentioned in connection with the position, is here today and says that he is no longer a candidate. Chairman Neal left for home tonight and will arrange his business affairs so that he can return here next week, open up state headquarters and remain until the campaign closes. Prominent democratic speakers all over the county have signified their willingness to participate in the campaign, and Colonel Neal says there will not be a dearth of stampers. The speaking campaign will commence about the first week in September.

The labor organizations claim that the law has been violated.

LOUIS, Aug. 7.—A special to the Post Dispatch from Leavenworth, Kas., says: A callegram has been sent to Buffalo Bill at Liverpool, telling him of the presumptive find of his father's body, for which a reward of $500 had been offered, in the old burying ground on Pilot Knob, west of this city. TWO FIRES.

One Last Night and the Other This Afternoon.

The saloon of Michael Creak, 223 Calhoun street, was visited by fire this afternoon and the rooms in the second story of the building were gutted. One of the firemen, while going to the scene of the conflagration, was severely injured.

Just after 12 o'clock last night fire was discovered in the grocery store of Theodore P. Vogler, at the corner of Jefferson and Hanna streets. The fire originated in the cellar, where the oil was stored, and before the department could get a stream turned on the whole interior of the building was ablaze. The stock of groceries and the bar were completely destroyed, the loss being estimated at $1,200. The building was owned by H. Hartman.

W. E. McDermuit has been at Indianapolis this week, attending the stenographers' convention.

It is said that Geronimo, the old Indian chief who used to like so well to look upon war and liquor when they were red, has now become an earnest Christian and an enthusiastic Sunday-school teacher. This is all well enough, but about the time the old man applies for orders and wants to be sent to a presbytery, or a synod, or a conference, look out. He may merely be looking for a fight.

ANOTHER young lady has fallen a victim to that death-defying ogre the bicycle craze can. This occurrence has become so common that newspaper comments might properly be restricted to a brief sentence, as "Jenny Jones, 125 Blank street, kerosene." Horrible examples and volumes of warning advice do not seem to reduce the annual number of victims a bit.

DURING a heavy rainstorm in Indiana a mud turtle as large as a man's hand fell from the clouds near Crawfordsville. For an hour the reptile lay motionless as if stunned, then it began to crawl away, but it was captured and kept as a curiosity.

IT IS OVER.

The Silver Encampment Winds Up in a Grand Excursion on the Lake.

DETROIT, Aug. 7.—Today, according to the G. A. R. program, was to be excursion day, but it is exodus day. The encampment was late in gathering this morning and the attendance was curtailed. Reports on the progress of the Sheridan and Logan monuments were read. There are $12,000 private subscriptions and a congressional appropriation, enough to make some $64,000 for the Logan, and for the Sheridan monument $30,000 are on hand and more coming in.

A report on the erection of a national memorial hall in Decatur, Ills, was adopted.

The quartermasters report showed the finances of the order to be in excellent condition. A large lot of miscellaneous matter, resolutions, etc., were laid on the table, among them a request for $5,000 appropriation from the Grand Army for a monument to Dr. Stevenson, the founder of the organization.

The per capita tax was reduced from three cents to two cents from next January.

The encampment then began the installation of the newly elected officers. The officers were called to the stage, the encampment arose, the ritual was read and the obligation administered. With these simple ceromonies the officers took their places.

Commander-in-Chief John Palmer was presented the flag by the retiring commander-in-chief with the declaration that there would be 500,000 men stand by him and the flag. Palmer then assumed the gavel and closed the silver encampment. This afternoon the delegates took a boat for a pleasure trip on the river.

THE STENOGRAPHERS.

T. J. Logan, of This City, Elected Vice-President of the State Association.

The second and last day's session of the Indiana State Stenographers' association was well attended at Indianapolis yesterday, says the Indianapolis Sentinel. Several interesting papers were read during the morning. Mr. W. S. Garber delivered an address on official reporting in congress, explaining at length the methods pursued in this work. "Stenographic Cranks" was the subject of the paper of Mr. C. H. Strawbecker, of Minnesota.

At the afternoon session Mayor Sullivan was present and welcomed the visitors to the city. He also took occasion to compliment the members of the stenographic profession on the accuracy of their work, saying that his experience with shorthand writers had been of a most pleasant character. The response was made by Mr. W. E. McDermut, of Fort Wayne, who, in a few appropriate words, thanked the mayor for the welcome and complimented the city upon its beauty.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—W. S. Garber, Indianapolis.

Vice-president—T. J. Logan, Fort Wayne.

Secretary—S. H. East, Indianapolis.

Treasurer—Mrs. M. O. Brown, Indianapolis.

Librarian—Mrs. A. D. Leach, Sullivan.

Executive Committee—Miss Emma Elliott, Evansville; Miss Hattie McCullough, Muncie; J. D. Strachan, Brazil; O. C. Miller, Fort Wayne; Miss Retta Metcalf, Anderson.

An exhibition of the phonograph was given in the hotel parlors last evening at 7 o'clock, after which the members of the association were entertained at the residence of C. E. Field at Woodruff place.

Messrs. Dement, Corboy, McDermut and Strawbecker participated in a friendly speed contest. The first named wrote 252 words per minute, which was as fast as the young man who dictated to him could read. The dictation was taken from entirely new copy, and, notwithstanding the great speed at which he was compelled to write, Mr. Dement transcribed his notes with ease. Each of the other participants wrote over two hundred and fifty words per minute.

An Ex-Senator Swindled.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Aug. 7.—Bayard Saville was arrested Wednesday on complaint of Ex Senator James G. Fair, charged with obtaining money under false pretenses. He presented a letter of introduction purporting to be from ex secretary Bayard, of Wilmington, Del., and induced Senator Fair to endorse a draft for $500. It now transpires that the letter was a forgery and that Saville had no money in the bank. He claims to have studied law with Ex Secretary Bayard.

THE hot summer sun is sending down its fierce rays again.

THE pay days of the month will be here again next week and the merchant who desires your patronage will advertise.

FORT WAYNE is marching right along in the way of street improvements. What we need now is the electric motor car on our street railroads.

GEORGE W. CHILDS is called "The Printers' Patron Saint," and he deserves it. He has ever been a friend of those who are workers in the art-preservative.

THE railroad democratic club are getting in shape. This organization has done grand work in the past and they propose to increase their usefulness in the future.

RAILROAD wrecks are coming pretty thickly just now. The details of two of them appear in our telegraph columns today—one on the Pittsburg, the other on the Wabash.

THE cows have another rival. Butter made from cocoanuts is rapidly taking the place of ordinary butter in Germany and Switzerland. It is said to be healthful, easily digested, as palatable as butter made from the milk of cows, and cheaper. But for all that the cow and goat will never be superseded.

RETURNS from the election of Monday, in Kentucky from 79 to 119 counties show no considerable change from the estimates sent in. The new constitution has carried by 75,000 to 100,000, the democratic majority is 25,000; the people's vote, 10,000 or less. The senate will stand: democrats, 27; republicans, 10; people's, 1. The house: democrats, 69; republicans, 17; people's 12; independent democrat, 1. Many democrats are farmers in sympathy with the alliance.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL MILLER, the only cabinet officer in Washington, is wrestling with the question: Can a Chinaman, upon becoming the citizen of another country, enter the United States in the face of the exclusion act? The question has arisen from the arrest at Port Huron, Mich., of a Chinaman who came from Sarnia, Canada. The customs authorities at Port Huron, deeming the celestial amenable to the clause providing for his return to China, were about to act accordingly when the British embassy in Washington notified the treasury department that the Chinaman in question was a naturalized citizen of Canada and a subject of Great Britain; that therefore he was not a subject to the law governing fresh and unalloyed subjects of the flowery kingdom. General Nettleton, the acting secretary of the treasury, confessed that the question was too deep for him and, there being no precedent, he referred it to the attorney-general. Upon the latter's decision a great deal will depend, for if it sustains the stand taken by the British embassy it will open the country to every Chinaman who obtains his naturalization papers in Canada, Mexico or any country whose citizens are at their pleasure privileged to enter the United States. Until the attorney-general, after throwing the light of his wisdom upon the question, stamps it with the seal of his judgment, the Chinaman about whom the question is raised will remain in durance vile at Port Huron.

THE OHIO CAMPAIGN.

The peoples' party in convention at Springfield, Ohio, yesterday nominated the following state ticket: For governor, John Seitz, of Seneca county; lieutenant governor, Frank L. Rist, of Hamilton county; auditor, David N. Cooper, of Athens; attorney general, Rial N. Smith, of Summit; treasurer, Henry Wolf, of Cuyahoga; supreme judge, Albert S. Yapel, of Hamilton; school commissioner, J. E. Peterson, of Green; member of board of public works, J. Borrer, of Franklin; dairy and food commissioner, W. J. Weaver, of Portage. John Sietz, the nominee for governor, is a farmer. He was born and bred a democrat and for four years represented the democracy of his county in the Ohio legislature, but when the greenback party was organized he joined his fortunes with it and was its nominee for governor several years ago.

The great political battle in Ohio is now on and will soon be waging with intense fierceness. Interest in the contest is not circumscribed by state lines. The eyes of the nation are turned toward Ohio. Upon the result depends the transformation of one or two presidential possibilities into impossibilities. The campaign will be fought on national issues, the tariff being the great central issue. The republican press and leaders of Ohio and the country would have the people believe that the democracy of Ohio are divided into two factions, each striving to cut the other's throat. True, there was an aggressive fight going on in the party before Governor Campbell was re nominated, but the cries of opposition were lost at Cleveland, and the Ohio democracy is marching under one flag to the tune of "The Campbells are Coming." If the republicans of Ohio believe that they will profit by democratic disaffection, they will be as badly fooled as were the wool growers who expected to get higher prices by reason of the McKinley law.

The giants of the nation will fight this battle and Campbell will win on the same issue that made the lower house of congress overwhelmingly democratic and gave the democrats United States senators from states seemingly hopelessly republican. William McKinley, Charles Foster, John Sherman, and Foraker will stump the four corners of the state for the republicans. Harrison is to make a tour of the state, not for the purpose of making speeches, but to show himself. An attempt will be made to press the magnetic man from Maine into service and DePew, Alger, Reed and other shining lights of republicanism have promised to lend a helping hand. Pitted against the big guns of the republican party, who can say nothing that is already a political reminiscence, will be Governor Campbell, the Hon. Allen G. Thurman, Gov. David B. Hill, of New York; the Hon. Roger Q. Mills, of Texas; General Palmer, of Illinois; the Hon. William F. Vilas and Governor Peck, of Wisconsin, Governor Bois, of Iowa; Springer, of Illinois; Senator Carlisle, of Kentucky; Senator Gorman, of Maryland; Senator Vance, of North Carolina, and Senator Voorhees, of Indiana.

The farmers of the state will cut a most important figure in this campaign. They have not been so busy fighting mortgages ever since they came out of the war that they have allowed the politicians to do their thinking, but that condition of affairs is now a thing of the past. They are doing their own thinking. They will burst party fetters and throw their ballots and influence to the candidates that come the nearest to representing their principles. They spurn McKinley's tariff doctrines. The tariff has raised barriers between the farmers and the republican party. When the farmers become so thoroughly aroused as to leave their plows to go upon the political battle field, the day of retribution is at hand. A prominent republican, who has recently made a tour of the state, expressed himself as surprised at the strong hold that Governor Campbell has upon the farmers, especially the alliance farmers. He says that McKinley will undoubtedly lose thousands of votes in the rural districts, and seriously doubts whether McKinley will receive sufficient additional support in the manufacturing centers of the state to offset his losses in the agricultural sections.

The prospects for a democratic victory in Ohio this year are very bright. The Indiana democracy will watch, with interest, the fight of their Buckeye brethren for tariff reform.

A card party was given last evening at the home of Miss Alice Ward in honor of Miss Gertrude Green, of Covington, Ky., and Miss Lida Baumgardner, of Mechanicsburg, Ohio. Four-handed progressive pedro was played at four tables, and partners were selected by the distribution of pretty souvenir cards. At the conclusion of the contest a dainty two-course menu was served. Those present were: Mrs. Charles Doebler, Misses Anna Ward, Grace Bass, Mamie Evans, Minnie Hoffman, Alice Woodworth, Dessie Strack, Agnes Seabrease, and Messrs. Reuben Newton, Alex Seabrease, Edward and Ben Woodworth, George Irwin, Stephen Fleming, Jay Dee, Sherman Petticolas, of San Antonio, Texas.

The "Tuxedo" company, combining the strength of George Thatcher's Minstrels and Rich & Harris' Comedy company will arrive in this city next Monday morning, and give the first performance in this city of their magnificent new production at the Masonic Temple that evening.

HILL IS NOT A FACTOR.

Tammany Is Not in Love With the Senator—A Western Democrat Talks on the Situation.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—A very prominent democratic politician from a western state, who, for reasons of his own, does not care to have his identity disclosed, is at present in Washington on his way home, after a sojourn of three weeks in New York state. He talked freely regarding the political situation in New York state. He was very emphatic in the belief that the New York delegation to the next national convention would be in favor of Cleveland's nomination. He thought that Hill would cease to be of importance when he took his seat in the senate. Without attempting to quote his exact words, the ideas of the western democrat are hereby recorded:

Unless present indications and existing conditions are badly upset during the next nine or ten months the state of New York will send a Cleveland delegation to the next national convention. Cleveland's friends in New York are of the solid and substantial rather than of the noisy order.

The influential men in the party are friends of the ex-president, and believe that his nomination for the presidency again is essential to democratic success.

Mr. Cleveland himself, from all accounts, is not worrying about the presidency, and his friends declare that he will hardly turn his hand over either for the nomination or for the election; but they also declare that Mr. Cleveland is in the hands of his party and that if it is the desire of the party that he should again be a candidate he will accept.

There is no doubt that Governor Hill is extremely anxious to obtain the presidential nomination; that he is plotting and scheming constantly to retain his hold on the democratic machine, and that his agents and strikers are constantly going through the state working up his boom.

The Hill people depend much upon the support of Tammany Hall, for without the support of Tammany it would be difficult for any New Yorker to have a majority of the delegates from the Empire state to the national convention. It was Hill's scheme to have the support of Tammany and Kings county in the state convention and pick up a few scattering districts through the state, and in that way secure a majority of the delegates to the national convention.

There is some reason to believe that Mr. Hill will not be able to carry out his plans. There are indications that Tammany Hall is tired of Hill and that the astute leaders of that organization are becoming convinced that the best way to retain popular confidence is to come to the support of the ex-president. The Tammany leaders always distrusted David and David in turn thought himself smart enough to hoodwink and humbug Tammanyites.

David is smart; scheming is his trade and making deals is his chief accomplishment, but he is not smart enough for the Tammany men.

It is true Tammany is not very much in love with Cleveland, but it is equally certain that they are convinced of Cleveland's honesty.

They will always know where to find him, and when he tells them anything they can rely upon it. Not so with Hill. They cannot believe the governor; they cannot trust him, and they have no confidence in his honesty.

It has been heralded all over the country from time to time that Hill was dead sure of the support of New York in the national convention. It is about time that this delusion was swept away. Hill tried to form an alliance with Gray of Indiana, and has been working night and day since the defeat of Mr. Cleveland in the fall of 1888, to arrange matters so that he could control the New York delegation to the national convention, and that Gray could control the Indiana delegation; then with the two doubtful states clamoring for the nomination of Hill and Gray he supposed that the rest of the country would be forced to acquiesce, no matter how discomforting the dose would be.

In dealing with Gray, however, Hill found a politician of his own stripe. Gray can see as far into the future as Hill, and can measure public sentiment just as accurately. Gray discovered long ago that Hill was a presidential impossibility; that even with the support of New York it would be almost impossible to get the support of the other states for him in the national convention; consequently Gray dissolved partnership, or rather declined Hill's proffer of a partnership.

Gray is aware that his only hope of being nominated for the vice-presidency is on a ticket with Cleveland, and that to antagonize Cleveland in the interest of Hill would be fatal to his ambition.

Like most other unscrupulous men who pretend to be excessively smart, Hill frequently overreaches himself. This he did when he promised the senatorship to Smith M. Weed and then arranged the wires so as to secure it for himself, and at the same time hold on to the governorship. The selfishness which prompted him to hold the two offices himself disgusted many who were previously his friends, but who were inclined to tolerate him. New York is rich in democrats of ability and ambition, and it is easy to see that the hogging qualities of the governor in trying to center everything in his own person, had an ugly influence on other democratic leaders.

It was Hill's aim for a time to arrange matters so as to secure his own renomination for the governorship. He bought out Flower, or rather encouraged Flower to seek the gubernatorial nomination.

He was friendly with Mayor Chapin, of Brooklyn, whom he encouraged also, and it is understood that other men throughout the state also received friendly hints from him that if they entered the race for the governorship they could have his support.

His object was to get four or five men into the contest, have a big row in the convention and then nominate himself as the general harmonizer. This scheme has failed. In all probability Mr. Flower will be nominated for governor, and Hill can not own him.

Chapin, Flower, Weed and even Hill's long-time friend Edward Murphy, of Troy, the chairman of the state committee, are well aware that Hill tried to humbug them all, and it is hardly necessary to say that Hill is not strengthened thereby.

Hill also tried to humbug the liquor men and for a time succeeded. He not only promised to veto legislation detrimental to them, but pledged himself to secure the passage of certain legislation that they desired. He kept a part of his promise; he vetoed certain measures at the demand of the liquor element, but he used his influence against the passage of certain bills that the liquor interests desired.

In offending the liquor element Hill made, perhaps, his greatest mistake, as the support of the liquor people has been Hill's main strength so far. The brewers were assessed in his interest, so were the saloonkeepers and the coopers who made the kegs and barrels for the brewers, the commission merchants who furnished grain to the brewers and every other element directly or indirectly associated with the liquor or brewing industry.

The brewers and whisky dealers, who would support him for governor because they needed a man friendly to them in the executive office of the state, would not support him for president, because as president he would not be useful to them. Consequently, in reaching out for the presidency, Hill will not have the assistance of the beer and whisky men; they will be looking out for the New York governor and not for the president of the United States.

Hill's machine is entirely personal and selfish. It is maintained by the patronage of the state government and the veto power in the hands of the government. Hill exerted the veto in his own interest more unscrupulously than any man who ever held the office of chief executive of a state.

When he steps out of the capital at Albany to come to Washington his power will cease. His machine will fall to pieces, and whoever succeeds him in the governor's chair will have more influence than Hill. When Hill enters the senate chamber the country will have an opportunity to measure his size. When he comes to be compared with men like Carlisle, Vest, Gorman, Morgan, Gray, Blackburn, Palmer, Vilas and Kenna his stature will appear rather limited. Hill is a smart politician in New York state. He knows very little about national politics. There are sixty men in the senate stronger intellectually than Hill, and it is my opinion that as a national legislator he will be a great disappointment to those who expect anything from him. When he solemnly recommended a couple of years ago that ex-presidents should be made life senators he adequately measured his mentality, democracy and intelligence. Look out for more breaks of that kind when he comes to Washington.

MISS ELSIE DE WOLFE.

The New Society Actress and Successor of Mrs. James Brown Potter.

There appears to be a "royal road" to success on the stage and that is to step thereon from a stage box, over the footlights, without having to enter the back stage door. It was thus Mrs. Potter made her debut and Miss Elsie de Wolfe, her friend, one of New York's 400, is now to follow her example. Miss de Wolfe is a member of one of the oldest, most fashionable and respectable families in New York city, if not the state. She has been identified with many amateur performances in public. Her father was the late Dr. de Wolfe.

Miss de Wolf is a brunette, of slight figure and regular features. She will make her debut as a professional actress in Charles Frohman's production of Sardon's "Thermidor" at Proctor's Theatre, New York, in October, and her work for the past eight months has been in preparation for this play. She admits that there is a great difference between playing for fun and making a business of acting. During her stay in Paris she saw much of Sardou. She says he is a wonderful man and at rehearsal directs everything, even to the minutest detail. At first he refused to admit her to the rehearsals, but ultimately yielded. He made the significant remark about the production of his play in New York, that he is going to have a real republic teach a government which pretended to be a republic what a real republic is.

Hornung, a well known manufacturer of boots and shoes at 820 Nolan st., San Antonio, Texas, will not soon forget his experience with an attack of the cramps which he relates as follows: "I was taken with a violent cramp in the stomach, which I believe would have caused my death, had it not been for the prompt use of Chamberlain's Cholic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. The first dose did me so much good that I followed it up in 20 minutes with the second dose, and before the doctor could get to where I was, I did not need him. This Remedy shall always be one of the main stays of my family." For sale by druggists.

The Lake Shore company have commenced the erection of some new shops at Toledo.

C. A. Walker, traveling freight agent of the Chicago and Northwestern railway, is in the city.

Trainmaster J. W. Hunter returned last evening from Kalamazoo, Mich., where official business called him.

Fireman H. B. Reidt, of the Grand Rapids, has recovered from his recent illness and this morning reported for duty.

Caller H. Quivey, of the Pittsburg road, has received his bicycle, which was away being repaired, and is happy once more.

James Trythall and John Best, of the Pittsburg blacksmith shop, are temporarily idle on account of the furnace being repaired.

Passenger trains on the Grand Rapids and Indiana railroad are crowded nearly every day. The assembly at Rome City is what attracts the crowds.

The Union Pacific road has taken its tourist sleeping cars off the line. Hereafter passengers desiring to sleep en route must pay for the privilege.

C. Auer, of the Pittsburg roundhouse night force, is off duty on account of illness. Machinist F. Schram, of the same shop, is also on the sick list.

George Kohler, of the Fort Wayne Furniture works, yesterday accomplished the phenominal feat of scaling 34,000 feet of lumber in four hours.

T. P. Donahue is once more at work in the Pittsburg roundhouse, after an absence of several days, during which he attended the funeral of his sister.

Jack Blake, a machinist in the Kerr Murray works, will leave Monday next for Boston, where he has secured a position as engineer on an ocean steamer.

Asa Roebuck fell from a timber wagon in the yards of Rhinesmith & Simonson yesterday, sustaining severe injuries to his hips. He will be laid up for some time.

A hand car with a cutter bar attachment, the same as is used upon mowing machines, has been constructed for the purpose of cutting weeds adjacent to the track.

Charley DeRome, the machinist in the Kerr Murray works, has been on the sick list for the past three days. He is improving, however, and will soon resume work.

Charlie Johnson, the oiler in the Pittsburg car shops, will spend two months this fall in Ohio. The boys in the shop say he will take the stump in the interest of Major McKinley.

It is nothing uncommon for an engine to make 6,000 miles a month, but the Logansport Journal states that Panhandle engine No. 337 made the remarkable record of 7,680 miles last month.

Bluffton will have another railroad, providing the citizens will donate $50,000 and secure the right-of-way. This was the result of a meeting between the president of the proposed road and a committee of Bluffton people.

The Trades and Labor Council will tonight decide upon the question of a labor day demonstration. If sufficient money can be raised, a display of some kind will be made in the city. Otherwise it is likely an excursion will be given, probably to Toledo or Detroit.

Thomas Sullivan, an employe of the Cincinnati Southern and New Orleans railroad, with headquarters at Somerset, Ky., is visiting relatives and friends in this city. Mr. Sullivan formerly resided in Fort Wayne, being for years employed as brakeman on the Pittsburg road.

The working force in the shops of the Fort Wayne Electric Light company at Plymouth has been greatly increased lately. Big novelty works are also being erected in Plymouth, and that city may be said to be enjoying a decided boom. The restoration of the Plymouth accommodation did it.

Kendallville News: "The Lake Shore gravel trains continue to be pushed to the pit. If this is to be the rule the rear brakeman ought to be supplied with a tin whistle to sound the crossing warnings. Any way the engineer ought to be instructed to keep his whistle quiet. His warning only makes matters worse. Its a great wonder that more accidents have not happened."

Another fraud on the farmer. Stranger—"What do you value your white cow at?" Farmer Furrow—"She ain't worth over $10. Taxing cows this year?" Stranger—"I am not the assessor. I am an official of the Quick Time railroad. Your cow was killed this morning. Here's the $10. Good day."

Foreman T. J. Rodabaugh, of the Pittsburg painting department, was called to Chicago this morning on business for the company. He was accompanied by G. W. Knoder, the expert passenger coach painter, who will put the finishing touches on the office furniture in the Pennsylvania's new quarters.

MONSTROUS CRANES.

Some of the monstrous cranes used in the Baldwin Locomotive works at Philadelphia lift a big locomotive as easily as a mother does a baby. Each of them saves the labor of 150 men and does away with the necessity of having a complicated system of tracks for shifting locomotives.

SMOKE CONSUMING ENGINES.

The St. Paul road is building two engines at the Merrill Park shops which promise a revolution in locomotive building. The new engines consume their own smoke and have no smoke stack. They are fitted up with an electric headlight, which is placed on a stand immediately in front of the boiler, thus giving the engineer an unobstructed view of the line ahead. The drive wheels are larger than on the ordinary locomotives and intended for greater speed. The new engines are particularly designed to furnish power for lighting passenger trains with electricity and for furnishing steam heat. These engines will be used on the track between Milwaukee and Chicago, and it is intended to reduce the best time now made by one hour at least.

AFTER THE OHIO AND MISSISSIPPI.

It is stated on good authority that President M. E. Ingalls, of the Big Four and Chesapeake and Ohio railroads, is endeavoring to secure control of the Ohio and Mississippi to add it to the Chesapeake and Ohio, in order to give that road an entrance of its own to St. Louis. If this deal goes through it will make the Chesapeake and Ohio the short route between St. Louis and the seaboard and place the road in a position to make things exceedingly uncomfortable for the Pennsylvania and Baltimore and Ohio systems. The errand of President Ingalls in Europe at the present time is to secure control of the European holdings of Ohio and Mississippi stock and arrange with the bondholders for terms of consolidation. There is, however, a possibility that this scheme may be defeated by the Baltimore and Ohio, which uses the Ohio and Mississippi as its main outlet to the west from Cincinnati.

SHIPPING AT NET WEIGHTS.

Several months ago, in a suit brought by Proctor & Gamble against a large number of railroads, the inter-state commerce commission decided that the railway companies must carry freight at its actual weight, without charging for the boxes or packages in which it is put up for shipment. This demand by Proctor & Gamble grew out of a practice indulged in by the railroads during a rate war and unusually fierce competition for traffic. In this strife some road seeking to secure an advantage over its competitors, carried soap and other articles at actual weight. Other roads met this species of competition, and, like many other abuses in railroad management, it was allowed to obtain a firm hold. When the railroads undertook to do away with the practice they found it was so firmly rooted that even the inter-state commerce commission favored perpetuating the practice. At the time it was pointed out that the shippers of other articles of package freight might with equal right demand that they also be given the benefit of net weights. The first demand of this character has been made. Manufacturers of gunpowder are insisting that their freight shall be charged for only net weight. In case the railroads refuse the demand the matter will probably be taken before the inter-state commerce commission.

STATUE OF LEO XIII.

A Semi-Colossal Representation of the Pontiff in Carrara Marble.

The statue of Pope Leo, which was presented to the Catholic university of Washington by Joseph F. DeLoubat, of New York, has arrived, and has been placed for the time being in the prayer-room of the university. There it will remain until the completion of the new building, which is to be erected near the site of the present theological building. A special place will be made for it in the plans of the new structure, which it is thought will be ready for occupancy by the close of the next academic year. The statue is in the semi-colossal style, and is regarded as a magnificent piece of work. It is of the finest Carrara marble, and represents the pope in a sitting posture in the papal chair and clothed in cassock, alb, stole, cape and tiara. The right hand is raised in the act of giving the blessing, while the left hand rests easily on the arm of the chair.

The statue is fourteen feet in height, including cubical pedestal almost square in dimensions and with a perpendicular of four feet seven inches. The base is of the finest Italian marble. The three sides of the pedestal exposed to view contain square panels of a slightly darker shade, upon which have been delineated the pope's crest of arms in bold relief, and opposite those of the donor, Count De Loubat, bearing the motto of his house, "Orphano Adjutor." The front panel contains in gilt-outlined letters the inscription: "Leo XII, P. M. Quo Auspice Lyceum and Incrementum Omnium Disciplinarum Washingtonienisibus Opertum, Josephus Florimons De Loubat, Com. P. P. S."

The sculptor was Giuseppe Luchetti one of the best known of the modern Italian school. He was the personal choice of Mr. De Donbat, under whose supervision the entire work was done. Luchetti was engaged upon the statue for over a year. The original model was submitted to the pope for his approval. The cost of the work was about $10,000, and in return Mr. De Loubat has been invested with the title of count. A counterpart of this statue of Pope Leo has been ordered for the city of Perugia, the pope's birthplace.

The formal unveiling takes place at the opening of classes September 28, when the statue is to be seen for the first time by the public. The program for the ceremonies of unveiling has not been completed, but it is expected that many of the most prominent dignitaries of the church will be in attendance.

FRUIT HOUSE PRICES

For the Fall of 1891.

Since the reduction of the sugar duties, the market has seen the lowest prices since the history of the U. S. There is no complaining now about price. The idea of granulated sugar selling at 5c lb and choice yellow sugar at 4c lb was a thing unthought of yet, so it is, and the people are availing themselves of it, and using double the quantity they formerly did.

Standard Granulated 5c lb. Finest Powdered Sugar 5c lb. Choice Extra C. Yellow 4c lb. Standard Coffee A. 4½c lb. Best Cut Loaf 5c lb.

TEAS! TEAS! TEAS! TEAS!

Are also extremely low—notwithstanding the increased consumption, they are no higher. They remain at last quotations, and very firm in price. When it is considered that we sell a good tea at 30c lb, while high prices in coffee was thought would advance teas, but it has not. coffee is selling at 25c lb, anyone can readily account for the increased demand for teas, for a pound of tea will go further than 2 3-4 of coffee, and besides it is becoming a favored cup. We sell more tea now in a day than we did in a month twenty years ago. We maintain our reputation for selling No. 1 teas at the low prevailing prices—on the principle of purchasing our teas direct of the importers and retailing them direct to our customers at a small profit, thereby saving them the profit of the middlemen, which is often 10 to 20c lb.

Extra Good Young Hyson Tea 30c lb. Choice 30c; best in market 50c lb. Gunpowder Tea, good 30c, best 50c lb. English Breakfast Tea 30c, best 50c lb. Imperial Tea, good 30c, best 50c lb. Oolong or Black Tea 30c, very best 50c lb. Japan uncolored, good 30c, very best 60c lb.

COFFEE—Rio, Java and Mocha.

The short crop of the last two years coupled with the combinations of the Speculators have kept coffee at a high price. In fact this is the only high priced article now on the breakfast table. The large crop this coming season which is now anticipated will have the effect to depress prices as soon as the crop commences to move, which will be in September. For the present we quote prices like last report.

Best Golden Rio 25c lb. Old Government Java 35c lb. Mocha 30c lb. Best Roasted Rio 25c lb. Roasted Java 35c lb. Roasted Mocha 35c lb. Coffee in packages, such as Sampson coffee and Levering's 25c lb.

Hot Weather Drives Women to their Senses.

It's the time when they must have something to lessen their work. It's the time when they must have Pearline. Nothing else saves as much or does as much, in all washing and cleaning—and it's done without harm.

Soak your clothes in Pearline and water—no soap—Pearline contains all the soap necessary—two hours, or over night rinse well, and they will be clean—particulars for this way of washing on every package. Hot weather increases the number who use Pearline—but in cooler times there's no falling off.

It's easily explained, you can drive women to use Pearline—some of them have to be driven to it. But, once they've used it, you can't drive them into giving it up.

Beware Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you, "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, and if your grocer sends you something in place of Pearline, do the honest thing—send it back. JAMES PYLE, New York.

THEO. JOHNSON HELD

For a Murderous Assault on James Daugherty—His Preliminary Hearing—The Courts.

Theo. Johnson, who made the murderous assault a few weeks ago on James Daugherty, had a preliminary hearing this morning before Justice James Wilkinson.

The prisoner was brought into court from the jail by Sheriff Viberg. He was defended by Judge S. M. Hench and A. A. Furman, while Prosecutor James Robinson appeared for the state.

The only witness examined was Mr. Daugherty, who was still suffering from the murderous knife cuts that the prisoner had inflicted on him, but who was able to come from his sick room and testify in the case.

He narrated the story of the crime, which is familiar to the reader. In company with two other men, he said, he was standing near the corner of Columbia and Harrison streets, when he heard Johnson while quarreling with a companion across the street.

He went over and said to him: "You had better keep quiet and move on or you will be arrested." At this Johnson pulled a knife and stabbed him twice, once near the stomach and once in the head. He said he was acting as a peacemaker and wanted to prevent Johnson from falling into the hands of the police, as he would have done.

The defense offered no testimony and Justice Wilkinson bound Johnson over to court in the sum of $300 bail. The prisoner was unable to furnish security and the sheriff took him back to jail.

POLICE COURT.

John Matthews and his son, George, who were arrested Wednesday night for assaulting Mrs. Matthews, the wife and stepmother respectively of the two above named parties, were again before Acting Mayor France this morning, but were discharged and allowed to go free because the woman, Mrs. Matthews, still refused to testify against them. They had been arrested on her affidavit, but she was influenced by her husband and refused to say a word in court against the prisoners. For this contempt of court Justice France sent the woman to jail. As the men walked out, she called her husband back to give him the keys to their house. The police think the Matthews woman is simple. She is not bright at any rate.

Old Aaron Barrel, who was but lately released from the penitentiary at Michigan City, was up in police court again this morning, the second time since his return from prison. He was arrested last night on Barr street by Officer Limecooley in an intoxicated condition. Mayor France heard his story and that of the officer and then sent Aaron to jail. The place has no terrors to this old and hardened bum, for he spent many years of life behind prison bars. He was rich once, but he loved whisky too well and it proved his ruin. He will probably never reform until Gabriel sounds his trumpet and Peter tells him that there is no room in Heaven for drunkards such as he.

The only other prisoner before the mayor was John Bates. He was arrested by Officer Lapp for striking a little girl. He was fined and sent to jail.

COURT GLEANINGS.

Henry Wellman has filed a bond as administrator of the estate of George Herring.

Margaret A. Leggett was qualified as administratrix of the estate of Elija J. Bonnell.

Justice France fined Frank Lauman $1 and costs for malicious trespass, and Fred Koenig the same amount for striking his wife.

James E. Young sues the Oak Harbor Cooperage and Lumber company for $2,000 damages for injuries sustained in their mill. C. Holder is attorney.

Justice Wilkinson has decided the case of Fred Bench against George Shaffer in favor of the defendant. Fred had sued for $50, claiming that his horse had been injured by a kick from a horse belonging to the defendant.

Julius Hugenard is a butcher and he also keeps bottled beer for sale in his shop. Last Sunday he sold some of this bottled beer to customers. This was a violation of the law and Julius was arrested. He had his trial this morning before Justice Wilkinson, and was fined $1 and costs.

Justices Wilkinson, Hays and France had several civil cases before them today and yesterday, in which judgments were rendered.

The case of the state against John Leykom, for maintaining a nuisance, in which the defendant was fined $1 and costs, has been appealed from Justice Hays' docket to the superior court. James Robinson prosecutes and Colerick and Oppenheim defend.

Justice Tanney rendered judgments in several civil cases yesterday.

Some time ago Bert L. Wilson sued and recovered a judgment against the Pennsylvania company for injuries he sustained while in their employ. Emmett V. Harris was his attorney in the case. Yesterday Mr. Harris commenced a suit for attorney fees against Wilson before Justice Wilkinson and garnished the Pennsylvania company. Today this suit was settled and dismissed.

Justice Hays had an interesting provoke case today. Lena Mahl was arrested for provoke on Mary Ryan and fined, costs and all, $16. Their law suits are not cooed, however.

THE C. B. L. OF INDIANA.

It Will Hold Its Annual Reunion at Decatur September 10.

The annual reunion of the Catholic Benevolent Legion of Indiana will be held this year at Decatur on Thursday, September 10. Reduced rates have been secured by nearly all of the councils of the state and the local branches will charter a special train to take the delegation from this city. A number of the councils have concluded to take a band of music for the occasions, which, with the low rates of fare and the reputation of the Decatur council as "entertainers," will induce the largest turnout of Catholics yet seen at any of these reunions. Jacob Hartman, the genial deputy at the chancellor, is chairman of the committee of arrangements of the local branches.

A DEMOCRATIC CLUB.

The Railroad Men of the City Meet to Organize One.

A number of the railroad men of the city met last evening at the City hall for the purpose of organizing a democratic railroad club. W. H. Tigar was called to the chair and Wm. C. Basde made secretary.

After an expression of opinion from many of those present as to the best plans to pursue it was finally, on motion of James Lannen, decided to appoint a committee of three to draw up a constitution and by-laws for the government of the club, and the chair appointed for this purpose Frank Mannix, James Lannen and W. C. Basde. This committee will report at a meeting to be held on the evening of the 26th of August, when the constitution and by-laws will be adopted and permanent officers of the club elected.

The secretary took the names of members last evening and thirty-two railroad men were enrolled. It is purposed to hold regular meetings of the club once a month for the present, add new members as time passes, and get in shape for solve, effective work next year. The railroad men of the city are invited to co-operate with the club and become members, and are urged to be present at the next meeting when the committee on constitution reports and officers are elected.

COUNTRY FIRES.

The Dry Grass Near the Fahling Farm Burns Brightly.

Sparks from a locomotive set fire to the dry grass on the Fahling farm, a few miles from the city, yesterday, and burned brightly for a while, spreading to the fences. Many of the farmers turned out and fought the fire, finally extinguishing the flames.

The Public Interest

In our Sale of

Stamped Linen Goods and Ladies' Muslin Underwear

Daily increases, and every looker becomes a purchaser. The reason of this is, that when we advertise a reduction in prices, we carry it out to the letter, instead of sailing under false colors and charging the regular prices, as we have reason to believe is too often done during so called closing out sales.

We are receiving Early Fall Goods daily, such as New Fall Styles in Prints, Dress Goods, Underwear, Etc.
